NEAR-NEWS AND CHATTER FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

To the lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and bringing a copy of this paper to the Tribune office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse. After winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete for a period of three months.

In days gone by, when the local high school and Sparta or Eau Claire battled for the pigskin upon the local gridiron, a slim and dapper young man, band-box in the immaculate dress of his attire, used to throw picturesque contortions in front of the grand stand, exhorting the local fans to renewed paroxysms of sound in support of their team. That young man was the "cheer leader." Later he went to the University of Wisconsin and led the cheering there. Oh, he was the cheerless peerless "cheer leader." Today the same young man prepares the U-Rah-Rah advertising of a great department store. He is the "cheer leader" of the housewives. He exhorts them to accept bargains. He awakens their enthusiasm and directs their energies. He is still the peerless "cheer leader." Now, as between "cheer leader" for a bunch of gay co-eds in a football grand stand, and "cheer leader" for an army of busy matrons, the romance is all on the side of the school experience. But what our friend learned from the former, he is applying ably with the latter, and the rooting is bringing the buying. He's as tall as ever, as slim as ever, as seriously cheerful as ever. (You know, a real comedian always wears that somber aspect.) He is as full of real comedy as a De Wolf Hopper, and as sober as a Stuart Hopper, off the stage. If you have found the key to this puzzle, you should win, for you can keep your secret under lock and key.

"Think you could get by?" asked Manager Koppelberger, of the Majestic theater. "The Great Nelson" had just applied for a booking. He is known in vaudeville as an imitator and impersonator, and as such had been extolling himself. "My stuff stands up in small towns," he said with a gesture of deprecation. "Sorry you're running stock—think you could use me." "The Great Nelson" took a step toward Ed Schwalbe, manager of the box office. As his foot came down a mouse screamed out in anguish. "Quick! Get a stick—I'm standing on him!" shouted "The Great Nelson." There was a small riot in the office. Two of the Van Dyke & Eaton girls were standing on chairs in blonde terror, gripping their skirts in self defense. Mr. Schwalbe waved the stick. The mouse shrieked and the girls screamed. "The Great Nelson" shifted his foot a little to give Eddie a crack at the vermin. The mouse slipped away, and ran up the inside of his trouser leg, its course indicated by its panicky squeaking. "The Great Nelson" stopped the mouse at the knee, and Eddie gripped a palpitating protuberance in the trouser leg. "You've got him. Don't let him bite me!" warned "The Great Nelson." But suddenly the squeal was transferred to Eddie Schwalbe's vest pocket, and then to Mr. Kop's ear, and then into thin air somewhere near the ceiling, there to make pitiful protest until the ventriloquist stopped to grin. "Yes," said "The Great Nelson," "I get by in the smaller towns." "I thought I'd die laughing," said Kop to a Tribune reporter. "I was hep to 'im all the time. Was he not?" He was NOT. Fred Mack insists it wasn't a make-believe mouse at all, but that it was Bobby Swenson's little prize pig. Also Mr. Mack complains that the story, as we tell it, is unfinished. "Whaddya want to leave the girls standing in the chairs for?" he wants to know. That was one on the editor. He was busy, and couldn't attend to it himself, but he sent The Shrimp right over. April fool, ladies!

to the fact that Al Anderson has been carrying it around in his vest pocket ever since he clipped it from the Minneapolis Tribune early in November: "After a six days' trip across Lake Calhoun, the 'Orange Peel' of the La Crosse Dredging company fleet sighted land today and a landing is to be made on the southeast shore near Lakewood cemetery. The log of Captain George Hagan shows the trip established a record for dredges traveling Minnesota lakes at this time of year. Yesterday the 'Orange Peel' ran into the first bad weather of the trip. A snowstorm and high wind reduced the rate of speed to eleven feet an hour, one foot less than the average for the trip. Monday was the record day, when in two hours thirty feet were covered. This, Captain Hagan maintains, places the 'Orange Peel' in the dredge greyhound class. As soon as port is reached, the dredge will be placed on rollers and hauled across country to the cemetery, where it will stand during the remainder of the winter months."

Submitted for the White Way by "Motor Bug." The 1914 Model Young Woman Streamline effect—usual dash and curves. Body, partly enclosed. Shattering, visible. Three speeds, social, home and office. Equipped with sparking device. More hair top. No upholstery. Power, unlimited. Stung-some lamps. Extra tired. Self-starter. Finished in rouge and carmine.

From a reporter's story of the "sym" exhibition of the La Crosse high school: "On those dates the girls will exhibit to the public all the benefits they have received from this training."

While prowling through an old letter file this morning the White Way editor discovered a startling communication. Just mentally stamp this with the great gold seal of the Probate Court, and you have it—no.

CONVICT'S DEATH HALTS HIS APPEAL

MADISON, Wis., April 4.—Death stepped in today to halt the work of the supreme court and the attorney general of the state of Wisconsin. Convict Lavalle, sent to Waupun for life for murder in Fond du Lac county, has been preparing an appeal of his case to the supreme court. His attorneys were ready to argue the case and early this morning the brief of Attorney General Walter C. Owen, appearing for the state, was sent to the state printer. This noon there came a letter saying that Lavalle has just died at Waupun. The attorney general called back his brief. The supreme court will automatically drop the case from the calendar.

LA FOLLETTE LEADS IN REVOLT UPON SENATE RULE OF SECRECY

FREDERICK WEYERHAEUSER

SILENT LUMBER KING IS DEAD AT COAST HOME

Estimates of His Wealth at Time of Death Range Close to Half Billion Mark

PASADENA, Cal., April 4.—Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the aged multimillionaire lumberman of St. Paul, died at his winter home here today of pneumonia, after an illness lasting three weeks. His son and several other members of his family were at his bedside at the last.

Born in Germany Weyerhaeuser was born in Neiderhausen, Southern Germany, in 1843. In 1852 he emigrated to America. Rock Island, Ill., became his home in 1856, and it was there that he became acquainted with the lumber business as a laborer in a sawmill. In six months he became manager of the mill and a short time later went into partnership with F. C. A. Denckman and bought the mill. The beginning of the enormous Weyerhaeuser fortune was witnessed in 1864 when he went into Wisconsin and bought a great strip of vast timber for a song. With this land as a nucleus, he organized the Mississippi River Boom and Logging company. Weyerhaeuser's secretiveness grew with his holdings, which gradually came to include every portion of the Mississippi. Millions of acres came under his absolute control. It has never been openly charged that Weyerhaeuser personally conducted the great raids into the public domain but millions of dollars accrued to the profits of his company through these raids. Weyerhaeuser contracted a severe cold three weeks ago. Capillary pneumonia.

CLUE TO ANCIENT ROMANCE FOUND IN GIRL'S BONES

Skeleton of Young White Woman Found in Digging at Ferryville

WAS SURROUNDED BY TRINKETS

Bracelets and Rings with Initials "VI" Upon Them Found with Bones

Surrounded by bracelets and rings so badly decomposed that they crumbled at the touch, the skeleton of a woman, presumably of a white woman, was found Wednesday afternoon by a construction crew excavating for a water tank foundation on the Burlington right of way at Ferryville, Wis.

Clue to Old Romance

The skeleton is the "corpus delicti" of a romance of an earlier day, before white men owned the Mississippi valley. How the body of a young white woman came to be buried in these early days on the banks of the Father of Waters, whether through crime, hardship or what or why, can only be conjectured. The skeleton was in a sitting position when it was discovered. Ernest B. Bedersen, La Crosse, was digging when the body was found. He uncovered the skull, and careful work shortly unearthed the remainder of the bones. The body had been buried under scant three feet of earth, and there was no indication of a casket having surrounded it.

Skeleton of Girl

Physicians who have viewed the skeleton declare that the bones are those of a white woman, not more than twenty years of age. The skull was well formed and broad in the

CALLS MOTHER AFTER DRINKING

Telephones Mother She Is Dying and Falls Unconscious to the Floor

Because her husband refused to live with her, Mrs. Charles Nesham, 1908 Pine street, yesterday attempted to commit suicide by drinking a bottle of carbolic acid. Hope of her recovery was at first abandoned but it was announced today that she will recover.

Her husband claims to have discovered his wife in a compromising position upon returning home unexpectedly Thursday night, and despite her tears, entreaties and threats to commit suicide, left the house saying he would never return. After drinking the entire contents of a bottle of carbolic acid, Mrs. Nesham staggered to the telephone and called her mother, Mrs. S. Bright of North La Crosse, and told her she was dying. Then she fell unconscious to the floor.

According to the story told by a sister-in-law, who was one of the first to arrive on the scene, Mrs. George Van Zandt, 501 Pine street, a sister of the woman, called at the home a few moments after the attempted suicide. She found the door locked, but hearing sounds from the interior, went to the side of the house and looked through a window.

"Mamma's dying," was the message which issued from a broken

DEFY EXECUTIVE SESSION ORDERS OF UPPER HOUSE

Wisconsin Senator Proclaims He Will No Longer Be Bound and Defies Senate to Expel Him

BATTLE OVER AN APPOINTMENT

Winthrop Moore Daniels of New Jersey Chosen Interstate Commerce Commissioner at Hot Meeting

ALLEGED TOOL OF THE INTERESTS

La Follette and Westerners Oppose Him Because of Decisions Favoring Corporations

WASHINGTON, April 4.—With five senators from the middle west, headed by La Follette, proclaiming that they no longer will be bound by the rule of secrecy and defying the senate to expel them, the stormiest executive session in the history of the upper house of congress ended late yesterday afternoon in the confirmation by a vote of 36 to 27 of the appointment of Prof. Winthrop Moore Daniels of New Jersey to the interstate commerce commission.

Characterizing the appointment of Daniels as a scandal, which he intends to air in public, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin elicited a threat of expulsion from Senator John Sharp Williams for violation of the rules of the executive session. Senator Williams read the rule.

Thereupon Senator La Follette defied the senate to expel him and was immediately joined in this stand by Senators Cummins and Kenyon of Iowa, Bristow of Kansas, and Clapp of Minnesota.

Senators Norris of Nebraska, Jones of Washington, Gronna of North Dakota, and Poindeux of Washington indicated that they too would discuss publicly legislation that did not affect the foreign relations of the United States.

Fight to End Sessions

Senator Kenyon served notice that he will move the abolition of executive sessions for all purposes save the consideration of treaties, and there is ample ground for the belief that this movement will succeed.

For three days the fight over the Daniels appointment has been raging in the senate behind closed doors. The selection of Daniels has been opposed for several weeks by the progressive members of all parties on the ground that the New Jersey man is a reactionary.

He was attacked particularly because of a decision as chairman of the New Jersey public utilities commission, which, it is alleged, allowed an inflated valuation of a gas company's property as the basis of regulation of its rates. It was argued that it would be dangerous to place a man of such views upon the commission which is now valuing the railroads of the country.

When the senate adjourned last night the indications were that Daniels was beaten. But the democrats rallied to their support thirteen reactionary republicans and achieved the confirmation.

Surrender to Interests

In the closing hour of the struggle Senator La Follette reviewed the work of Prof. Daniels on the New Jersey utilities commission and pronounced the appointment a surrender to special interests.

Then he launched into a denunciation of the practice of the senate in conducting the discussion of appointments behind closed doors and on imposing upon senators the prohibition of divulging the proceedings. He said that the debate on the confirmation of the appointment of a man to a position in which he will have a hand in constraining the interstate commerce law is of such vital importance to the public that it ought to be conducted in the open senate.

Then Mr. La Follette announced that for one he did not propose to be bound by the rule of secrecy in a matter in which the interests of the public were so deeply involved. He said he intended to make the whole affair public in the next issue of his magazine.

BENTLEY PRESENTS A NEW MARKET PLAN TO RETAIL MERCHANTS

SUPPORT PLEDGED BY MERCHANTS TO BIG CELEBRATION

Agree to Permit Manufacturers and Jobbers to Use Their Windows for "Made in La Crosse"

LAY GROUNDS FOR BRIDGE FIGHT

Point Out that Time Is Opportunity to Remove Toll from the Mississippi Wagon Bridge

NEW DIRECTORS ARE CHOSEN

Will Elect Officers Next Wednesday to Investigate Various Plans for Market

Forty La Crosse businessmen, members of the Retail Merchants' association, at the annual meeting and dinner of the organization in Linker hall last night, pledged support to the Made in La Crosse, Home Coming and Fourth of July celebration to be "staged" by the La Crosse Board of Trade.

A committee from the Board of Trade, consisting of Albert Funke, L. H. Martin and D. W. MacWillie, appeared to ask them to co-operate by permitting the use of their show windows for displaying "Made in La Crosse" goods only to find the merchants demanding that more windows be used than were last year.

The merchants went on record as strongly in favor of a free bridge, better marketing facilities for the farmers, appointed committees to investigate the various marketing plans and report with recommendations and elected a set of directors for the coming year.

Experiment Lost Time

"Made in La Crosse was an experiment last year," Mr. Funke told the merchants. "The windows we used were given gladly. The public interest was evidenced by the crowds on the streets every day and night."

"This year we expect to have everyone of the 140 manufacturers and jobbers represented and we will want more windows. Our plan, for instance, has been enlarged and this year we will want larger display space. This, I believe, is true of practically every exhibitor."

"The merchants have the get-together spirit that makes so much for the success of a city and I think that a better feeling has grown up between the retailers and the manufacturers and jobbers since the initial exhibition."

Use All Windows

Adam Kroner of the Adam Kroner Hardware company called attention to the fact that many merchants were willing to donate the use of their windows but that in many instances they were not taken.

He was assured that all available space would be utilized this year and L. H. Martin of the Board of Trade assured the committee that exhibits would be improved and enlarged this year.

In his annual report Secretary Harry Taggart urged upon the merchants the necessity of starting now a campaign for a free bridge.

The time, he said, was opportune because of the toll imposed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company. He congratulated the merchants on having the united support of La Crosse newspapers and thanked the newspapers for the support shown every public move of the retail merchants and other organizations. He also urged that special attention be given the marketing problem and that merchants support which ever plan the committee decides to recommend.

Presents Market Plans

Joseph Felber of the E. R. Barner company then presented the plans which he had drawn for stalls and rest rooms on the market square. The plans provide for fifty-seven stalls between King and Jay streets, each 20x10 feet. At the Jay street end, he said, the plans called for two rest rooms fully equipped with toilets, etc. The council, he said, had the right to improve conditions on the market square but were financially unable. He said the plan could include space for auction sales and booths where people could buy direct from the farmers.

"The chief complaint of the farmers," said Mr. Alex Rose of the Scott-Rose company, "is that there

A brand new plan to solve the marketing problem here was put up to the Retail Merchants' Association at their annual meeting last night by A. A. Bentley.

The proposition, which started unlimited discussion and which today is furnishing topic for conversation among businessmen, provides, briefly, that the merchants form a market association, build a small office on the market square, equip it with telephones, bookkeeper and stenographer and a buyer whose duty it shall be to take from the farmer everything he brings to town at a price posted in the market that morning. Mr. Bentley does not propose to stop buying because the local demand is filled, but pointed out that produce could be taken and shipped without losses to the merchants backing the plan.

The retailer, pointed out Mr. Bentley, or the consumer, could dai-

TO PREACH SPECIAL SERMON FOR MEN

Pastor of Congregational Church at Sparta Takes for His Subject "A Leper's Plea"

SPARTA, Wis., April 4.—In the Congregational church tomorrow morning, Rev. Hogan will preach on the theme, "The Leper's Plea." This is a sermon especially for men. The Christian Endeavor society meets at 6:15, and will discuss the topic, "The Power Verse," under the leadership of Miss Ruth Blinston. Preparations are now being made by the choir for its Easter music, and a rehearsal will be held in the church parlors this evening. On May 3, Rev. Dr. Joseph Green of Constantinople, a Congregational foreign missionary, will be present and speak to the congregation. The themes he will talk on are given out as "Mohammed and Christ," and "The Balkan War, Its Causes, Its Effects, and the Outlook for Christian Work."

The evangelists, Miss Caffray and Miss Pennel, will close their work in the Methodist church with their evening service tomorrow. They will have charge of both the morning and evening services tomorrow. Their meetings in Sparta have been successful and very well attended.

Garnishees Wages
Ed Nestingen, the grocer, yesterday through Attorney Z. S. Rice, garnishees the wages of Tony Kaufman, a plasterer, to recover a bill for about forty dollars that Nestingen alleged had been run up by Mr. Kaufman at his store. Kaufman was employed on the new George Newton residence on the corner of Water and Montgomery streets. It appears that the debt was contracted by the family of Kaufman and not himself, and so he refused to pay the bill, although testifying that he spent fifteen dollars weekly for his family. The case has not yet been finally settled.

Briefs of the City
Mrs. Dave Hemstock entertained at a six o'clock dinner in honor of Mrs. Lee Jewett, nee Elizabeth Trux, of this city, who is visiting friends and relatives in this city.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Suffered Three Years. Used Resinol. Now Not A Pimple To Be Seen.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27, 1912. "I had been troubled for the past three years with pimples which completely covered my face and neck. The pimples would come out, fester up and cause me to pick at them, feeling very uncomfortable. I tried most all kinds of facial creams, but with no effect. I tried a sample of Resinol Soap and Ointment and noticed instant relief. I bought Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and began the treatment. After using two jars of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, there was not a pimple to be seen, and now my face is as smooth as if there was never a pimple on it." ### Film Flashes

A new version of Hall Caine's novel, "The Christian," has been produced in eight reels by the Vitagraph.

"Napoleon," a five reel French history picture has been released by the Eclectic.

"The Cabaret Dancer," a Kalem two part dramatic subject, is receiving much favorable comment from eastern critics.

"For the Universal six-reel feature, 'Sampson,' and all other special features, to follow, two million stamps or seals are being printed for distribution to patrons throughout America. This set of stamps, relating to 'Sampson' only, will bear some special scenes of the play, in five colors. Coupons will be printed in various newspapers throughout the country, and in moving picture magazines. These coupons are to be cut out and presented by the patron at the box office at the time of showing the special features where the seals can be had, after leaving name and address.

The Vitagraph company must use so many things in their moving pictures which they must borrow, or rent, that they have bought their own fire department, because of the great difficulty in securing proper equipment. The Vitagraph Fire department consists of a hose reel, hose wagon, steamer, ladder truck, chemical and water tower.

Maurice Costello, the Vitagraph moving picture star has been absolutely forced to request his legions of friends and admirers to refrain from presenting him with gold watches and chains.

King Baggot is producing and playing the title role in "Jim Webb, Senator," a play written by himself revolving about the political intrigues of certain lobbyists in Washington and the reformation of an adventurer through the association of an old mother and a good man. The play is in three parts and will be released as an Imp.

A REJECTED LOVER MURDERS WIDOW

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 4.—Because she had for two years, both before and after the death of her husband, refused his advances, George Shields, a Chicago saloon keeper, Friday night shot and killed Mrs. Celia Lynch, formerly of Chicago, now of Milwaukee, and then committed suicide a few steps from her body.

It is thought the murder took place shortly before 7 o'clock, but the first knowledge of the crime came when a brother-in-law of the woman stumbled over her body.

WRITE STORIES FOR MOVING PICTURE PLAYS

New, Spare-time Profession for Men and Women—One Man Makes $3,500 in Six Months

Owing to the large number of new motion picture theaters which are being opened throughout the country, there is offered to the men and women of today, a new profession, namely, that of writing moving picture plays. Producers are paying from $25 to $150 for each scenario accepted, upon which they can build a photo play.

As it only requires a few hours' time to construct a complete play, you can readily see the immense possibilities in this work. One man, who gave the idea a tryout, writes that he earned $3,500 in six months. It is possible for an intelligent person to meet with equal success.

One feature of the business which should appeal to everyone, is that the work may be done at home in spare time. No literary ability is required and women have as great an opportunity as men. Ideas for plots are constantly turning up, and may be put in scenario form and sold for a good price.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE TENTH MAN

By KATHERINE HOBSON

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure

Newspaper Syndicate

"Nine men out of ten would!" "But there is still the tenth one," Sibyl Clark shook her head. "Somebody I doubt it. I believe they all prefer beauty to any other quality. And I don't blame them—I don't blame Ralph for admiring Ethel Martin. I do, too. Like most very plain people, I fairly worship beauty in others."

"It's unfortunate this girl came to visit in Ennisburg just now, when things were a bit difficult between you and Ralph anyway," Mrs. Underwood, Sibyl's married sister, rearranged her embroidery hoops with a worried frown.

"Better now than later," Sibyl's laugh was a little forced.

"There's something I've been thinking a long time, but haven't had the courage to say," Mrs. Underwood regarded her sister reflectively for a moment. "I have felt for some time that you and Ralph ought to break your engagement."

Sibyl started in surprise, but her sister continued: "If you had married four years ago when you first became engaged, all might have been well. But you both decided to go to college and during this time you have grown apart. You have both changed. He has developed the frivolous side of his nature, and you have grown to look on the serious side of life a little too closely. If you had attended the same university, you might have acquired some of the same ideals; but since you went to radically different ones, the result is what might have been expected."

Sibyl laughed a little unsteadily. "That's—that's pretty straight talk, Sis."

"I know it, that's why I'm giving it to you. Think it over."

Sibyl agreed, and in truth was compelled to do so, as a little later she saw Ralph Coston stop in his car for Miss Martin, the girl who was visiting next door. Pretty, fluffy haired Ethel Martin appeared never to have a serious thought in the world, and she and Ralph were laughing gayly as they rode by.

Sibyl watched them from behind the curtains in her room. "I wonder how Ralph thinks I feel about his marked attentions to Miss Martin. But he doesn't care—that's the point—and why should I?"

"If it is such a good day for autoing, I'll go too." Hastily she dressed, and at the last moment before leaving her room, drew from her finger the engagement ring which for four years had been such an integral part of her life.

She was an expert driver and her trim little runabout spun rapidly down the smooth roads. It was one of those days in midwinter which seem a forerunner of spring and the rest of it gets into the blood.

In spite of troubles, Sibyl found herself in tune, and fell to thinking—not of Ralph and the present situation—but of old days at the university. Since her graduation last spring she had not had time to adjust herself to the new order of things, and often missed the old friends. Ralph, who had graduated from an eastern college at the same time, had thought best to postpone their marriage another year until he could adjust himself to business in the snug berth awaiting him in his father's office.

If he had had to get out and rustle for a position as did most of the fellows who graduated in my class, it would be better for him." Memories of old classmates brought to her mind Kenneth Collins, the one she had known best. She had seen a notice in the paper of his recent arrival in Ennisburg to spend a few days at the home of his uncle.

"I hope I shall see him while he is here."

On and on she went, paying little heed to her surroundings, until she noticed her way ahead was blocked by a large touring car with which the driver was apparently having trouble. He was down beside it busy with wrench and tools. She saw it was the Reeve's car, and with a start recognized Kenneth Collins as the driver in misfortune.

"This is worse than college algebra," called she, stopping her car alongside.

He turned pleasurable surprise lighting up his frank pleasant face. "Sibyl Clark! By all that's lucky!" He drew off his gloves and came over for a cordial handshake.

Immediately conversation turned on the subject of his difficulties with the car.

"I can't find out what's the matter with the thing," acknowledged he. "If it were a horse, I should be right at home, but a big touring car like this is not my native heath."

"Let's see if I can discover what's wrong," She alighted and joined in the search for the cause of the balky car. Soon it was revealed to be of so serious a nature as to require the services of an expert machinist.

"It's only about half a mile from here to the Wayside Inn. Let me take you there, and you can telephone to town for some one to come and mend the car."

Collins gratefully consented on condition she would have lunch with him at the inn.

They talked of old college days, of the work and play and old friends there. Then Collins launched into a description of the new position which had just been offered him in the chemical department of a large manufacturing company.

"It's a chance to do a man-sized work and feel one is doing some actual good in the world—testing the food supply." As he talked on about his hopes and ambitions, Sibyl listened, every faculty alert. After a there were men with high visions. She contrasted him with Ralph Coston, who had lately repudiated her "soul-talk."

Suddenly in the midst of what he was saying, Collins broke off—his keen, gray eyes on her ringless hands. "You're not wearing your—your diamond now?"

"No," she answered.

"I used to feel that that big glinty diamond you wore bored like a gimlet through my soul. But now you no longer wear it, I'm free to say how I have always cared for you."

"Oh, no, no, you mustn't say it," she protested, for there was no mistaking the expression in his eyes.

He glanced around the rapidly filling dining room. "Of course this isn't the place to speak. A girl has a right to the prescribed settings—moonlight and that sort of thing—"

She spread out her hands deprecatingly. "Oh, it isn't that—the moonshine part. In fact, I prefer the practical light of day—"

"So do I. I've always had an idea that a life contract agreed to in broad, sane daylight would be pretty apt to stand the wear and tear of time."

"Especially when one is as plain as I am—then there would be no disillusionments." Her smile was a little bitter.

"You—plain? Why, Sib, you're you—and that's always enough for me."

Her eyes grew misty, but before she could speak they were interrupted by a waiter, who said apologetically: "Beg pardon, sir; the man from the garage is here."

"Very well, I'll be there in a minute," Then to Sibyl: "Time and automobiles wait for no one. May I come over tomorrow at ten? That's a practical enough time to suit anybody."

She laughingly nodded in assent. Sibyl got into her own runabout and drove rapidly back home. She was glad not to encounter any one on the veranda or in the hall, and had a long quiet time in her room for thinking of things. For a time she was uncertain, but the return of Ralph and Miss Martin to the house next door decided her. There was a look of rapture on his face as he helped out the other girl that Sibyl had not seen in his face for her since their first engaged summer.

"That engagement was founded on moonlight and propinquity, but this other—"

She studied her face in the mirror. Her frank, almost rugged features, and serious brown eyes looked back at her. "At least Kenneth knows me just as I am—he has known me in classroom and campus for four years."

Resolutely she got out her writing materials and wrote a letter—a letter that required much thought and some revision, but when it was finished she wrote Ralph Coston's name on the envelope and sealed it without a tremor. Then with a last, long look at the ring which had played so vital a part in her early girlhood, put it in its velvet lined box, wrapped it up and addressed it for mailing.

"I'm glad that man interrupted us when he did; I wanted to gain time. Time to be off with the old—before I was on with the new. Tomorrow I can listen to Kenneth with a clear conscience."

Twilight was falling when she reached the house, and Sibyl joined her sister, Edna, who was alone in the living room.

"You're right, Ed. Beauty isn't the chief thing with some men—the tenth ones," declared she, plunging into her story without preamble. "I know whereof I speak, for I have found the tenth man."

All Was Confusion in the Water.

Daddy's Bedtime

Family Life Story — Was Lively In The Fish Bowl.

"YOU know," said daddy, "the water snails are very useful to many ways. There was once a little girl named Susan who had in her room a great big glass bowl which held some helleries."

"What are helleries?" of course asked Evelyn.

"They are a fresh water fish that live in climates where the water is sure always to be very warm. She also kept some snails in the water with the helleries."

"The family of helleries consisted of a mother, a daddy and twenty little ones. Can't you imagine how proud Susan was of them? In the bottom of the bowl she had little pebbles and stones, and she had just the right kind of plants and weeds growing around them."

"These fish are about the size of minnows, but of a different shape, being more round than the minnows are. They got along beautifully with the snails, though. Perhaps they realized that the snails were keeping their home clean and healthy."

"But one day a dreadful thing happened. You know the mother helleury doesn't care for her children until they are big. She forgets that they must be given time in which to grow. So that if she can she eats them up."

"What a queer sort of mother," said Jack. "What does the daddy do?"

"Oh, the daddy loves them, even when they are little bits of things! He tries to protect them from the mother."

"One day, as I was about to tell you, Susan went into the room, and she saw wild confusion in the fish bowl. Even the snails seemed to be excited."

"Susan had been warned that the helleury mother would eat up her little ones if she got the chance, and Susan at once saw that that was what she was trying to do. So she saw the big helleury daddy trying to chase the mother helleury around so that she could not get hold of any of the little ones. Susan grabbed the mother helleury and put her quickly into a glass of water that was standing near by. The next thing Susan did was to count the little helleuries and, to her delight, found that all the twenty were quite alive. But they had evidently been very frightened, for they were all in a corner of the bowl, as near to the daddy helleury as possible, and the big daddy helleury was quite quiet and seemed to be much relieved that the danger was over. The snails, as you can imagine, were only too glad to rest once more. Susan gave them all some delicious fish food to comfort them."

"And she kept the mother helleury in a separate bowl until the little ones were grown up, and then she was welcomed back just as if she had never tried to eat them up."

BURLINGTON BALL
TOSSERS TO MEET

Probable that Harvey Boyle Will Be Given Management of the Team

The organization of the Burlington baseball team will be effected tomorrow-afternoon at a meeting to be called at 2:30 in Fjelstad's hall, Caledonia and St. Paul streets. Harvey Boyle, one of the leaders of the movement, is expected to be present, and it is thought that the management will be given to him, although several others will bid strongly for it.

Several prospective members of the team have been out the last few days getting the kinks out of their muscles. In a week or two, the team will have regular practice. Uniforms, gloves, bats and the other necessary baseball paraphernalia have already been ordered and will be here in a few days.

MAYOR OF TOMAH
DIES ON FRIDAY

W. B. Cassels Succumbs to Long Illness at His Home at Tomah Yesterday Afternoon

Mr. W. B. Cassels, mayor of the city of Tomah, died at his residence on Friday at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Cassels had been ill for some time and has not been able to attend to his official duties for some time. Meanwhile E. E. Griswold, president of the council, has been attending to the work.

Mr. Cassels was a native of Scotland and when quite young enlisted in the union army as a fitter. After serving for some time he became a resident of the western states and later located here. His children, Bert Cassels of La Crosse, Edwin Cassels of Chicago, Dr. George Cassels of Wausau and Miss Grace Cassels of Stevens Point, were home at the time of his death. His wife also survives him. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

A suicide was committed on Thursday in Tomah when Mrs. P. Hackney ended her life by drinking some carbolic acid. She died within an hour after taking it. Mrs. Hackney had been in ill health for some time and her age which was 70 years, made her more feeble and she finally decided to take her life. Mr. Hackney, her husband, had left the house and when he came back he noticed her in a stupor and immediately summoned a physician, but it was beyond his power to give any aid whatever.

Rest Room Installed
Through the efforts of the ladies of the Civic club a rest room has been established in the Homemaker building on Superior avenue, next to the city hall. This room is equipped with rocking chairs, couch, reading matter, baby cabs and other necessities which would be needed by itinerants. This room was opened for the convenience of those residing in nearby towns and those in the community who desire to use it.

All-State Man
Roy Benjamin, center on the high school team, was selected by the Lawrence coach to a position on the all-state team. "Ben," as he is most familiarly known, put up a fine exhibition of the game while at the tournament and played his opponent to a standstill. Benjamin is known throughout this district as being the cleanest player on the floor and he is remarkably accurate at caging the ball and his work with his teammates is of the best. He was also considered as an all-state halfback last year in football.

Locals and Personals
Because of the reckless driving of autos and excessive speed, Chief of Police R. E. Preston has issued a warning to all the owners of automobiles in the city and assures them that should complaint be made to him about their driving or should he catch them exceeding the speed limit, he will enforce the law to the fullest extent.

Mr. A. E. Hart, who conducts a blacksmith shop in the south part of the city, rented the east part of the Carl Andres building and with more horse shoers will open up for business in a short time.
The baseball team of the Indian school has scheduled a game with the La Crosse Indians on May 16. The Indians are practicing daily and the material is abundant. A winning team can be developed at the school and it is evident that they will have a fine battery consisting of veterans of the diamond. Mr. Charles, formerly of Carmine, will coach the team.
The Carroll College Glee club will appear in the city on April 8. This is the only club which will visit this city this year and there ought to be a large crowd out to hear the program.

gaged to fill the vacancy in the high school faculty caused by the resignation of E. D. Fruth, instructor in science.

Upon the action of the city school board there will be no baseball team representing the Tomah high school. The cause for this is that baseball as a game cannot be financed in a paying way.

R. E. Butter of Sparta, a graduate veterinarian, has located in this city and will conduct a business in his office and also answer calls about Wednesday of next week.

MADISON, Wis., April 4.—This afternoon Senator Howard Teasdale of Sparta appeared before the railroad commission to argue in favor of a union station in the city of Sparta.

A new depot is about to be built there and Senator Teasdale favors a union station for the Northwestern and St. Paul lines. The application of the Green Bay Water company for an adjustment of rates will be heard on April 23.

One of the longest calendars of hearings that has ever come before the railroad commission will be heard this month. There are already seventy-four cases scheduled, most of which will be heard in Madison.

MOTION PICTURES
ARE AID TO EYES

No Foundation for Stories that Motion Pictures Cause Eye Trouble in Children

NOTED SPECIALISTS GIVE VIEWS

Say that Flicker of Films Is Actual Tonic; Children Much Brighter After Seeing Pictures

(From the Moving Picture World)
Only a few months ago, Mrs. Ella Flag Young, superintendent of schools in Chicago, strongly advocated the passage of an ordinance requiring a five minute intermission between the running of reels in picture theaters. She held that watching moving pictures on a screen strained the eyes of children, if continued through the program without intermission. The following interviews entirely refute Mrs. Young's hypothesis.

Certain physiologists and opticians continue to attack the motion pictures. They declare that defective vision, styes, granulated eyelids, eyestrain, pink-eye, inflamed lids, cross-eye, and other troubles may each and all develop from attendance at the moving pictures.

Dr. Herbert Harlan, surgeon general of Maryland, says these charges are all nonsense. Dr. Harlan asserts that an hour or so spent each day watching a moving picture show can result in no harm to the eyes.

Another authority goes still further, and asserts that two hours a day in the dark auditorium of a picture house, watching the various films, is actually a tonic for the eyes. Experiments by Professor Knight Dunlap in the psychological laboratories of Johns Hopkins university have shown that even the slight flicker which appears occasionally tones up the eyesight and makes it more acute.

The reason is that there is no change of focus. The spectator sits from twelve to several hundred feet away from the screen and a little flicker is really beneficial, because it keeps the eye muscles from becoming sluggish.

Children and adults as well, have become more observant since moving pictures became in vogue. Recent tests upon children immediately after leaving a moving picture exhibition prove that they distinguish colors more readily, recognize form and shape more sharply, and remember figures, sizes and visual differences better than they did before they went to see the pictures. They surpassed in all the tests children who had not attended the picture shows.

Instances of weak eyes, astigmatism, near-sightedness and nervous eye trouble are commonly attributed by careless observers to motion pictures, but are found on investigation to be due to entirely different causes.

There is no danger to the eyes from frequenting moving picture theaters other than is liable to be encountered in any theater, railway train, church, park or other public gathering. Contagious are, of course, picked up by the eye at moving picture houses the same as in school or church, but these cases are by no means common, and with the protective regulations now in force the ventilation arrangements and hygiene of the picture playhouses are becoming superior to those of the schools, churches, and other public gathering places.

Finally, it may be said that if the motion picture habit has done nothing else than remind people of their

"THERE IS BUT ONE FAIR AND HONEST WAY"

To Determine the MERIT of a Ready-to-take Medicine

No one can speak positively of the worth of any medicine until he has tried it. Not tried it on others, but tried it on himself. Any one who has been afflicted with a chronic ailment and experienced relief from some remedy, he and only he can give testimony that is worth anything concerning the remedy.

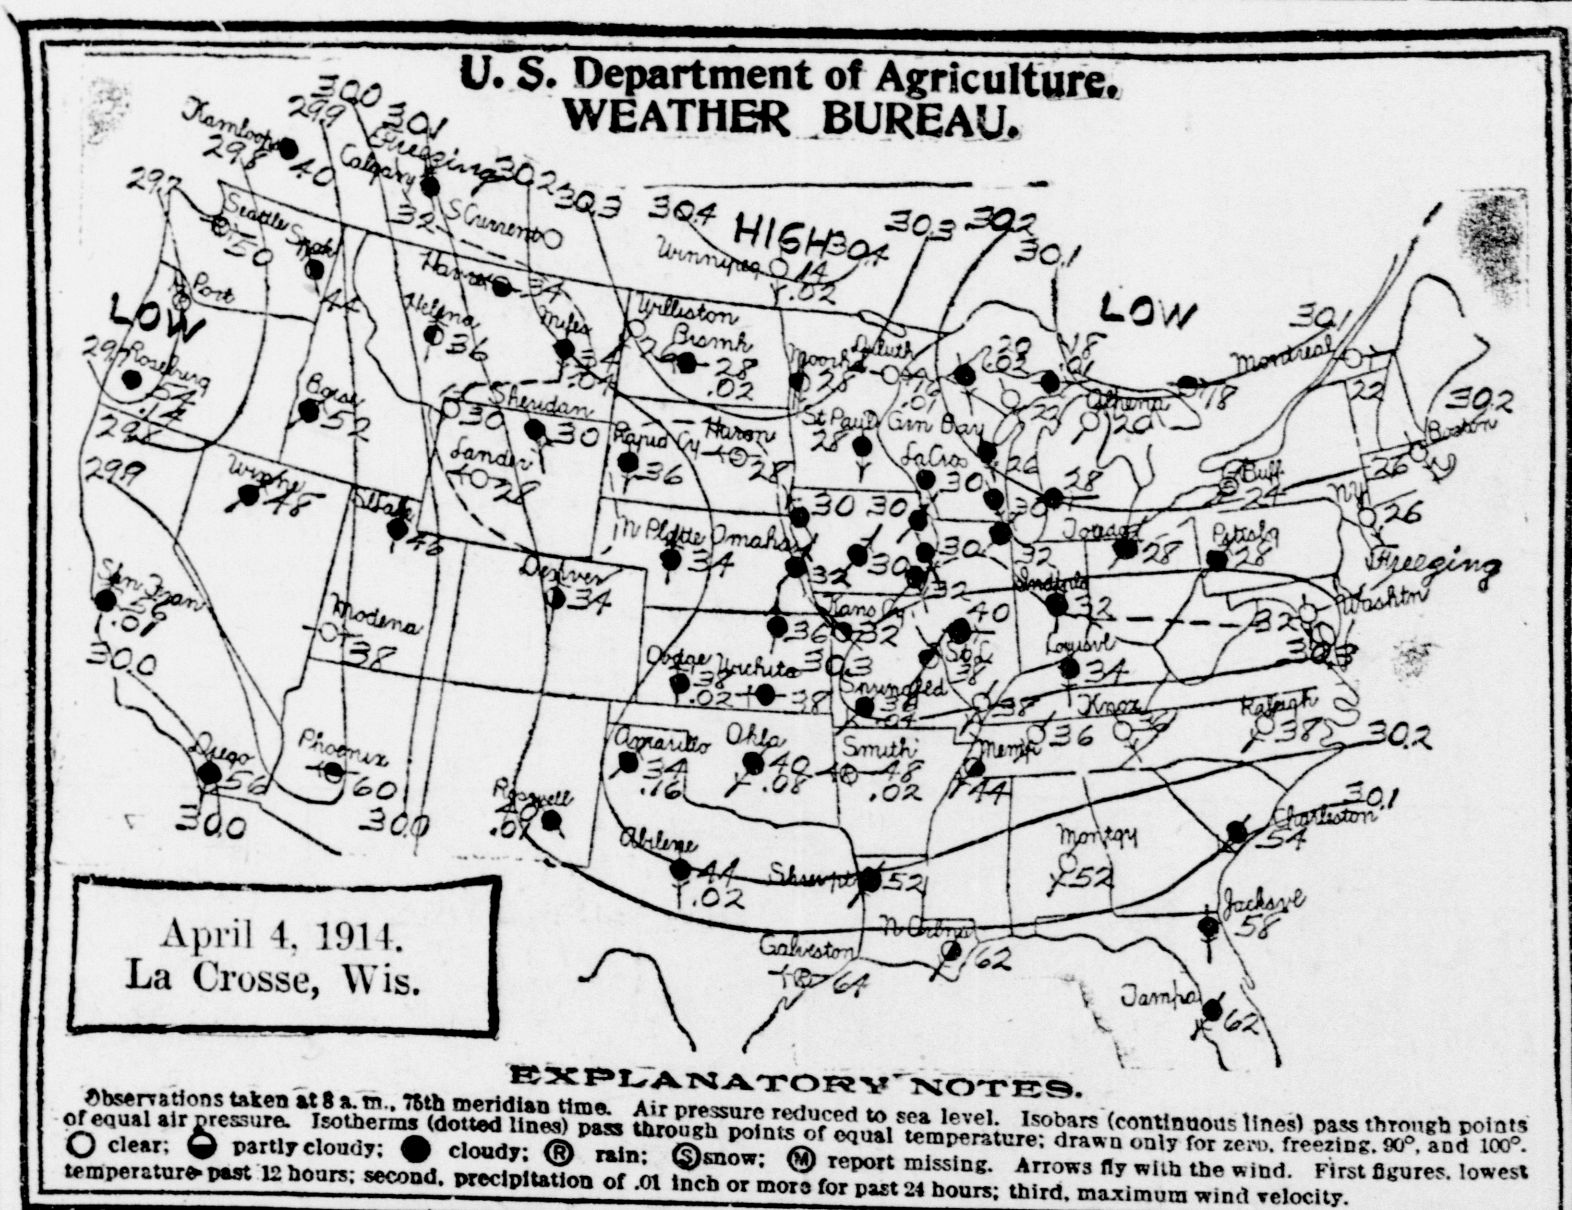

The people who have taken Peruna know what Peruna is. The people who have read about Peruna or heard about Peruna, have a more or less imperfect knowledge of it. The true test, the only fair and honest way, is to try it. Read the remarks below, made by people who know Peruna. If you are interested, send to us for the "Ills of Life," full of similar testimonials from honest men and women all over the United States.

Mrs. A. E. Stouffer, R. R. 1, Sabetha, Kas.: "Peruna has given me health and strength; it is the best medicine that was ever made for women. My friends say they never saw such a change in a woman. I talk to every one about Peruna. I cannot say too much for it."

Mr. Isaac Horrenga, Fremont, Mich., writes: "I was taken sick last spring, unable to work for three months and a half. My weight was reduced to 135 pounds. At last I was advised to use PERUNA. I have now gained my usual weight. PERUNA gave me a splendid appetite. I feel strong."

Miss Marie A. Lesser, No. 922 26th St., Chicago, Illinois: "I was troubled with systemic catarrh for years. The catarrh had got all through my system, head, throat, stomach and other internal organs. Tried many remedies. Did no good. Took Peruna at the suggestion of a friend. Was surprised at results. I am now perfectly well and strong. That weak, tired feeling has left me." Mrs. Alvina Flammann, No. 2025 Elm St., Milwaukee, Wis.: "I am now able to do my household again, and have a good appetite. Peruna did it for me. We always keep Peruna in the house. We all use it. My husband and children. I thank you a thousand times for your advice."

ADELAIDE PHILLIPS

And an Old-Time Negro Melody

Early in 1840 a tiny English lass of seven years landed in America with her parents from Stratford-on-Avon, the historic birthplace of William Shakespeare. At the age of nine little Adelaide Phillips made her first appearance at the Tremont theater in Boston. Jenny Lind met her and advised her to go to London, and later she studied in Italy, where she won a great triumph as Arsace in "Semiramide." Returning to America
she was given an ovation accorded few singers and continued her tour to Cuba. When the Boston Ideal Opera company was formed in 1879
she appeared in "Pinafore" and the Sullivan operas, and added greatly to her fame as one of America's most popular and beloved contralto singers. It was a memory that can never be effaced to hear Adelaide Phillips sing the old popular songs as encore after encore was demanded.
To hear her sing that plaintive melody of Foster's "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground," vibrated the heart chords and touched the hearts of healers. This song is to be found on page 359 of "Heart Songs," a veritable library of the greatest songs in the world, and now offered to the readers of this paper for six coupons and the cost of distribution. See coupon with terms elsewhere in today's issue.

ANTARCTIC HERO WILL LECTURE HERE

Commander R. G. R. Evans, who was second in authority in the expedition of Captain Scott to the South Pole, has come to the United States to lecture. He is the first member of that famous expedition to come to the United States.

He was captain of the Terra Nova during the whole period of the explorations and was in command of her when she sailed back to Cape
Evans, expecting to pick up Captain Scott and his victorious party, only to learn that all had died.

TOBACCO MAGNATE FEARED SUICIDE

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 4.—
The police are dragging the Susquehanna river here today for the body of Russell Uhl, president of the Penn Tobacco company, one of the largest independent concerns in the country. The missing man yesterday called his counsel and family and dictated his will. Nothing was thought of the incident as his health has been poor for three months. His family heard him rise at 5 o'clock this morning and later leave the house. His hat, coat and overcoat were found on the river bank near his palatial residence.

SEVERE ITCHING AND BURNING

Eczema Began With Pimples on Lower Limbs. Constantly Tormented. Cuticura Soap and Cuticure Ointment Cured in Ten Days.

203 Walnut St., Hillsboro, Ind.—"My child had a breaking out on the lower limbs which developed into eczema. The eczema began with pimples which contained yellow corruption and from the child's clothing they were greatly irritated. They seemed to burn, which made the child scratch them, resulting in a mass of open places. They made her so cross and fretful that it was impossible to keep her quiet. They caused her to lose much sleep and she was constantly tormented by severe itching and burning.
"I tried several well-known remedies, but got no relief until I got a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which did so much good that I got a large quantity that cured her in ten days after she had been affected for two months." (Signed) Mrs. Edith Schwartz, Feb. 28, 1913.

SOCIETY

VAN DYKE & EATON FAREWELL.
Starting with the matinee performance tomorrow, the Van Dyke & Eaton company will begin the last four days of their present season's stay in La Crosse, with the four act comedy drama, "Woman Against Woman," a beautiful play full of good heart interest, and a wealth of good comedy. There will be the usual matinee and the special gift night on Monday night—in fact Monday will be something special in the way of a gift night—as there will be an unusually large amount of valuable presents given away. Being the close of the season, there is on hand quite an unusual amount of merchandise and the like. It will all be given away on Monday to save moving charges,
both at their door and from the stage.
On Wednesday night—the farewell performance—a public reception and handshaking reception will be held on the stage, when everyone is invited to come up and shake hands and bid farewell to the different members of the company.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday afternoon at half-past two,
at the home of Mrs. P. J. Wilden, 821
King street.

Y. W. C. A. COSTUME PARTY

The annual costume party of the classes in the physical department of the Young Women's Christian association was held in the gymnasium last evening. There were about fifty girls present, all in costume, besides which there were a goodly number of spectators. The costumes were varied and interesting and during the earlier part of the evening much amusement was created by the efforts to ascertain the identity of the mask-
ers. A wandering circus troupe, which happened in during the evening, added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. Following the un-masking, refreshments, consisting of fruit punch and cakes, were served,
and later in the evening two flashlight pictures were taken of the group of maskers. Music for dancing was provided by Miss Petra Peterson.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Mrs. Houghland, 1204 South
Fourth street, was pleasantly surprised yesterday in honor of her sixty-fourth birthday. The guest of honor was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Guests were Mesdames O. Nustad, L. Knutson, P.
Rippl, A. Lystad, Machel, Kinservik,
Larson, C. Houghland, L. Moe, J.
Read and A. Houghland.

F. R. A. ENTERTAINS

The F. R. A. gave the members and the dramatic club, a royal treat last Thursday evening. Andre's orchestra started the festivities at eight o'clock and the light fantasty was tripped until 11 o'clock when the banquet hour was announced. Covers were laid for 175 and the catering, which was under the able management of Mesdames Grebner, Noble, Martinek, Freeman, Schwartz, Graham, Stadler and Schmidt, brought forth from the diners many compliments. All the tables were decorated with potted ferns, while suspended above them were baskets filled with clinging ivy and smilax. A canopy over the tables was decorated in colors of the order. Mayme Morgan gave interesting notes connected with affairs of the club, Dorothy Ledezar again pleased the audience with a solo.
while Margy Ness and Mary Coughlin, Prof. Falls, Alice Mockley and Maydel Exley executed a few dance steps, which brought forth plaudits from the crowd. Walter Stendel gave a few humorous remarks on the amateur and professional standpoint of the dramatic art. The troubas of a director, as given by A. C.
Radke, were substantiated by Harry Vickery, director of the Van Dyke and Eaton company, whose experience in this role for a number of years gave weight to the argument.
Other members of the Van Dyke and Eaton company who were entertained at this affair were Mr. and Mrs.
Brandon, Mr. and Mrs. Vickery, Clifford Hastings and Harry Whittie.

RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bunge entertained the members of the Beloit Glee club, the Black and White club and a number of young ladies at a reception last evening. There were about seventy-five present.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe
to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store.
Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes,
scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

gene Florence, to Dr. Royal Kasson Lohmiller, Thursday, April 9.

from Lake Mills, Iowa.

Miss Latham of Caledonia, is a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Collieran.

BELOIT MUSICAL CLUBS SCORE HIT

The entertainment given by the Beloit College Musical club last evening was the best of its kind heard at the high school for some time. The glee club sang well and kept the house in roars with their humorous songs. The mandolin club, assisted by a clarinet, a flute a trombone and drums, rendered some choice pieces of music.

The name of part two, "El Dorado, or the Land of No Care," was appropriate. It consisted of a scene in one of the college rooms where a number of college boys were gathered after a dance. The scene which took place was characteristic of college life. The various fellows stood about swapping stories in a true to life manner and were so natural on the stage that it seemed they were all alone and not performing before an audience.

The soloists also were first class.
Mr. C. R. Pearsall, a bass soloist, was called back on the stage twice.
A clarinet solo was rendered by Mr.
John Roth, John Mulholland and Fay Hulbert, the accompanists, played duets on the piano which were well received. The entertainment was attended by about three hundred and fifty people.

CUT EXPENSE OF GOVERNOR'S FORCE

This Is Advice of H. J. Kneen Who Opposes What He Terms Attack on Farmer Appropriations

M'GOVERN DIDN'T CUT EXPENSE

Claims that $600,000 Held Up on New Buildings Was "Saved" Because State Was Nearly "Broke"

"If Governor McGovern calls an extra session of the legislature there will be a real 'cutting bee' which will start right in at the governor's office and go straight through every department of state government."

This was the declaration today of Assemblyman E. J. Kneen who insisted that he and other members of the legislature would not for a minute tolerate a program to cut down road appropriations, thus affecting the farmer, and letting other appropriations rest.

"We worked hard and faithfully in that legislature, considered all bills carefully and exerted our best judgment," said Mr. Kneen today.

"Now, at the first cry raised by a bunch of stalwarts in both parties there is this frantic rush to cover, this almost foolish attempt to save political scalps."

"If we are called together to reduce taxes we will reduce expenses and this could be done in the executive department. We would cut down the expenses of all departments twenty per cent and then make it forty by 'driving' twenty per cent of the employees."

Governor McGovern is posing around the state as the great expense saver. He is elaborating on how he saved nearly $600,000 by holding up new buildings, work on which was supposed to start last fall and this spring. He held them up because he had to, the state was without funds—that is how he 'saved' the people's money."

Mr. Kneen said that there was serious danger of cutting the appropriation for the new $100,000 physical training school here.

DEFY EXECUTIVE SESSION ORDERS OF UPPER HOUSE

tion of which a senator may be expelled.

This move did not daunt Senator La Follette. He said that he believed it his duty to acquaint the public with the facts in the Daniels case and that if he should be expelled therefore he would accept it as the penalty of discharging his duty as a senator.

While Mr. La Follette was making these remarks Senators Cummings, Kenyon, Clapp and Bristow arose and one after another declared themselves in sympathy with the attitude of the Wisconsin senator. They asserted they would not be bound by the rule of secrecy and defied the senate to expel them.

Public Needs Information

Senator La Follette explained that he was ready to concede the desirability of considering treaties and questions relating to foreign relations behind closed doors, but he did not believe that important nominations in which the public has the keenest interest should be considered in secret.

He announced that hereafter he would be the sole judge as to matters in executive session concerning which he would remain silent and he was prepared to take the consequences and to make an issue before the country.

As a result of Senator La Follette's declaration and statements made by others in sympathy with him on both sides of the senate chamber the senate agreed to make public the roll call of the vote by which Prof. Daniels was confirmed.

Many senators were of the opinion, following the executive session, that action will be taken shortly to lift the veil of secrecy from the executive sessions as to everything except matters connected with foreign relations.

Senator La Follette made the prediction that the old time secrecy attending executive sessions is at an end. He intimated that the view expressed many times by the president in his book, "The New Freedom," and in other writing in favor of publicity will be adopted by the senate.

Would Have Lost in Open

Senator Kenyon said the confirmation of the Daniels appointment never would have been voted in open session. Senator Asher, democrat, said the appointment is a surrender to the railroads.

It transpired that the democratic leaders counseled the withdrawal of the appointment, but President Wilson insisted on confirmation.

Senator La Follette today said: "I propose hereafter in the open senate, on the stump, in the press, and anywhere else that seems proper to me, to discuss this or any other matter of public interest that is brought before the senate in executive session."

ly step to the telephone and put in his bid for whatever produce he could use.

"Supposing the City Grocery wanted fifty bushels of potatoes and thought 60 cents a fair price?" he said.

"The buyer would call at the market and say, 'The City Grocery will take every bushel of potatoes up to fifty bushels at 60 cents.'"

"That price is then posted on the market. Mr. Farmer driving to town with eight or ten bushels of potatoes knows that he can sell them to the City Grocery at sixty cents a bushel. It is the same with all produce."

Mr. Bentley's plan for payment for all articles is to issue checks, due bills, or orders on the various merchants of the city, leaving the seller to choose the firm upon which he wants his order drawn.

This proposition met with some opposition by those who suggested that the farmers be paid in bank checks. This could be accomplished, it was pointed out, by forming a corporation and guaranteeing the amount of the checks.

The Bentley Plan.

Mr. Bentley's plan as outlined last night is as follows:

That a suitable building be erected on the market square.

That the Market association employ one buyer for all offerings of every description on the market.

That the prices paid for every commodity offered be largely controlled by the market to which a surplus, should there be any, could be shipped and sold without loss.

That any surplus there might be should be sold to the best advantage each day.

That all prices paid for all commodities be posted in the market building and the same published in the daily papers each night.

Also that if there should appear to be a shortage in the offerings of any commodity, or should any member of the association or others be especially desirous of obtaining a supply of any certain article, they would be permitted to put their bid before the purchaser and be allowed to pay any price above the posted price that they wished, and the purchaser on the market would be instructed to pay for such article the price bid until the required amount was secured.

That payment for all articles purchased on the market be made by the issuance of checks, due bills, or orders on the several different merchants of the city, leaving the seller to choose the firm upon which he wishes his order drawn.

That should the seller demand cash, that a special small discount be taken off from the purchase price, and said discount be placed in the fund to defray the expenses of the market.

Also, that each merchant in receiving the orders from the sellers in exchange for goods or other items of trade will be charged a certain per cent by the Market association, which amount will also go into the fund to defray expenses of the Market association.

All offerings of every description on the market of which delivery could be made at once, would be bought at the posted prices if no individual purchaser had authorized higher offers. In cases of large quantities of grains and live stock, standing bids from elevators and others would control the prices paid each day, as would also the local demand for all offerings unless there should be an excess of the local requirements, in which case outside markets or places where our association would sell the surplus, of course would control the price to be paid.

It is understood that the Market association shall not at any time pay more for produce or other offerings than the same can be sold at, except in cases where individuals or special offerings may be in excess of the legitimate market quotations.

Mr. D. W. MacWillie, of the Wisconsin Pearl Button company, commended the plan of Mr. Bentley, maintaining that it "is the best proposition ever proposed."

"Why have Chicago, Minneapolis and other cities grown?" he queried. "Because they have a market. It is pretty hard to get men in La Crosse to agree to anything where they have to put up the money to defray the initial expense," he continued, "but this plan can be started without a cent of capital and a mere guarantee of a small sum."

is no place to come. Something must be done to remedy this condition."

At the request of Vincent Tausche, of the Tausche Hardware company, Mr. Felber explained that the estimated cost of the improvements is $5,500 but that this could be reduced by substituting simpler construction for the elaborate architecture.

Remodel Present Building

Another plan of Mr. Felber's is to get permission to fix up the buildings already on the market. This could be done at an expense of approximately $2,000, he said.

Following the discussion a resolution was passed to appoint a committee to investigate the various marketing plans and report to the association with recommendations.

The association again went on record against the removal of the second train from the Reno-Preston branch of the Milwaukee. Ten members volunteered to attend the hearing before the Minnesota railroad commission April 7. They are the Messrs. Robert Braun, C. A. Krebaum, J. S. Arenz, N. M. Scott and representatives of the William Doering-finger Co., Tausche Hardware Co., O. J. Oyen Co., and President Edward Dittman.

New Directors

The following directors were elected: Charles Gesell, Joseph Felber, N. M. Scott, Fred Heil, H. A. Tausche, A. R. Nelson, Al Langenbach, Harry Taggart, Henry Boem and Herman Tillman.

window as she peered into the darkened room. Standing beside the body were the two little children, awestricken but uncomprehending.

Key Through Window

Calling the older child, four years old, to the window she told her to unlock the front door. The child was unable to turn the key but finally managed to pull it from the lock and passed it through the broken window to her aunt.

Mrs. Van Zanbergen then entered the house and summoned physicians who declared there was no hope for the woman's recovery. She was rushed to St. Francis hospital, however, and today it is believed she may recover.

Relatives of Mrs. Nesham, however, fearing that she might make an attempt to commit suicide, had notified her mother the following morning, and Mrs. Bright went to see her daughter yesterday morning.

After a short talk the daughter told her of her contemplated suicide, but her mother finally persuaded her to abandon the intention. When Mrs. Bright left she carried a bottle of carbolic acid, with which her daughter had intended taking her life.

Yesterday afternoon, however, Mrs. Nesham evidently changed her mind, and procuring more carbolic acid, locked herself and children in the house and drank the acid.

Husband Unrelenting

Charles Nesham, the woman's husband, today declared that he returned home Thursday night and found the house locked and another man with his wife.

When his wife threatened to commit suicide he says he thought she was "bluffing," as she had made the threat before.

Mr. Nesham has not yet visited his wife at the hospital and shows no signs of relenting and forgiving his wife. Asked today if he will return to his wife, Mr. Nesham declared that he "hadn't decided yet."

FARM LAND SALE BRINGS $20,000

Real Estate Business in I

Crosse County Involves

Over Half Million in

One Month

The largest sale of La Crosse county farm land this year was recorded with Register of Deeds A. Dowd Thompson this morning when John Pinkerton and George Guille son sold approximately 240 acres of land in the towns of Burns and Hamilton to Ludwig T. Lee for $20,000.

Some idea of the enormous increase in real estate business in La Crosse county may be gained from figures compiled by the register of deeds, which show an increase of $161,321 in March, 1914 over the month of March, 1913. During the last month the real estate business was far over the half million dollar mark.

Papers filed with the register of deeds show a total of $528,282 as the true consideration was not given in many deeds, it is safe to say the actual amount involved was close to $600,000.

The report in full follows:

Seventy-one city sales, $129,659
thirty-six city mortgages, $47,840 thirty-three country sale, $155,320 thirty-two country mortgages, $97,127; fifty-two mortgages discharged, $66,638; eighteen mortgages assigned, $31,688. Total $528,282.

AVAILANCE ON GRANDDAD

A huge mass of rock and dirt aggregating thousands of cubic yards, fell from the west face of Granddad bluff yesterday, rolling down the slope with the speed of an avalanche. Some of the smaller boulders came within a few hundred feet of the crusher of the La Crosse Stone company. Several men were working on the track leading to the quarry on the south end of the bluff, but none were hurt. The slide occurred at 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

PETITIONS ARE SENT FROM HERE

Manufacturers and Jobbers Sign Call to Commission to Compel Retention of the Train

That the Milwaukee road has no intention of changing its plans to remove the second train from the Reno-Preston branch is indicated by a letter from W. S. Cooper, general superintendent, received by O. K. Dahle, president of the Caledonia Commercial club.

He writes:

"Chicago Ill., April 1, 1914.
"Mr. O. K. Dahle, president Caledonia Commercial club,
"Caledonia, Minn.
"Dear Sir:

"Replying to your favor of March 28th, I beg to say that the company made application to the Minnesota commission to discontinue the additional train and so far as I know the hearing set for April 7th, is to be held.

"Yours truly,

"General Supt."
Jobbers Are Busy

The Manufacturers and Jobbers' club of La Crosse is still in the fight to retain the train and firms employing over 300 traveling salesmen, signed protests which were sent to the road and to the commission.

forehead, a type foreign to the Indian aboriginals of this part of the country.

Who was the white woman, buried in sitting posture in the Indian fashion? Speculation is rife in Ferryville, but the mystery will never be solved. As far back as the memory of the oldest settler of Ferryville goes, there has never been a house or a grave in that location, or a legend that any one had been buried there.

Initials on Bracelet

That the bones were not those of an Indian woman is further proven by the fact that two signet rings, both with the initials "VI" upon them, were found with the body. Four bracelets of the familiar "C" shape were found nearby. They were constructed of some soft metal, so badly disintegrated that it crumbled at touch.

The rings were in better shape, and were taken as souvenirs by Burlington trainmen, F. P. Wheeler, Muscoda, Wis., has one of the rings. Engineer Samuel H. Mallory, 1921 George street, and brakeman John E. Harrison, 1511 Prospect street, also have relics of the find.

WALTER COPE PRIZE

Golden haired, blue eyed babies promise to become the envy of La Crosse mothers as the result of Walter Schuppie's successful debut on the Van Dyke-Eaton stage at the Majestic theater yesterday afternoon. Walter, a plump little fellow of one year, who possesses these attractions, carried off the beauty prize without an effort at the Van Dyke-Eaton company baby show. The youngster is the property of Mr. and Mrs. L. Schuppie, 1527 Green Bay street.

CHINESE CONFESSES MURDER

400,000 GATHER AT LONDON MEET

Huge Throng of Unionists Packs Hyde Park at Home Rule Protest

LONDON, April 4.—One of the greatest demonstrations in the history of London occurred here today when 400,000 unionists and unionist sympathizers swarmed over Hyde Park and listened to speeches delivered by fifty leaders protesting against the coercion of Ulster into acceptance of the home rule bill. The police estimate of the crowd was 400,000.

Arthur J. Balfour, former conservative premier, was one of the principal speakers.

"The coercion of Ulster is a great national crime," declared Balfour, "and it will be followed by one of the greatest national disasters."

Tremendous enthusiasm was aroused by such speakers as Sir Edward Carson and Lord Charles Bessford. The vast throng cheered and yelled at every thrust against the forcing of home rule upon the counties of Ulster. Suffragettes attempted to start a counter demonstration, but the 500 women were drawn out by the unionists.

STEAMERS SEARCH FOR MISSING SHIP

Two Vessels Look for the Sealer Southern Cross; May Have Foundered

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 4.—Two steamers equipped with wireless were today sent out in search of the missing sealer ship Southern Cross, which, it is feared, may have foundered in the severe storm early this week and sunk with her crew of 170 men. Nothing has been heard of the Southern Cross today but it was hoped that within the next few hours, the mystery as to the fate of the missing vessel might be cleared.

The steamer Bellaventure, having on board the bodies of seventy-seven members of the crew of the sealer Newfoundland, may reach port late this afternoon. It is feared that before the Bellaventure docks many of the 112 survivors picked up from the ice floes may die from cold and exposure.

PALM SUNDAY SERVICE

Palm Sunday at St. Paul's Universalist church, Cass and Eighth Sts., will be observed in part by a special program of music appropriate for the day, at the morning service of public worship. A sextet will render "Gallia" (Ch. Gounod), while Mr. J. L. Uttermoeh, baritone, will sing "The Palmers," and Mr. Glen Halik, violinist, will play "Elegy" (Massenet). Prof. Leland Widrick will be at the organ, playing the following numbers: Prelude, "Solitude" (Godard); offertory, "At Sunset" (Roland Digele), and postlude, "Solennelle" (Lemaigre). The minister, George R. Longbrake, will give a brief address appropriate for the day. The service begins promptly at 11 o'clock and the public is most cordially invited.

DAVIES VERIFIES CHOICE OF SKAAR

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(Special).—Joseph E. Davies, commissioner of corporations, in Washington today verified the story that Mr. Olaf R. Skaar, of La Crosse has been recommended to Postmaster General Burleson to succeed William B. Tscharnar at St. Louis. Inquiry was made by a United Press correspondent. "He has already been recommended," said Mr. Davies, "and there is no doubt but that he will go through in due time, as there is no prospect of a contest."

In a letter to a friend in La Crosse Congressman Esch says that Postmaster General Burleson has intimated that the nomination of Mr. Skaar will be sent in about May 1.

MORRIS HOME IS ATTACKED BY FIRE

Small Damage Done to the Lieutenant Governor's House by Fire on the Roof

Fire starting from burning paper alighting on the roof did considerable damage at the home of Lieutenant Governor Tom Morris this morning. A number of men from one of city plumbing establishments were called to the house this morning to clean out the flue of the furnace. They filled the furnace with paper and tiny bits of it going up the chimney with the draught, landed on the roof of the house, setting fire to it.

The fire department responded to the call and soon had the blaze under control. The damage to the roof and the house by water soaking is estimated at about $400, which is covered by insurance.

This is the second fire at the Morris home within a year. The lieutenant governor was severely burned last spring in saving his daughter from the flames.

North Half Billion

Possibly the wealthiest, certainly the most secretive of American multi-millionaires, Weyerhaeuser left an estate the value of which his most intimate business friends cannot come within $100,000,000 of estimating. He probably was worth half a billion dollars, most of his wealth being in vast timber holdings throughout the north and west.

Weyerhaeuser pampered himself less than other rich men. His habits were extremely frugal. One automobile was enough for him. He was a stranger to yachts and art galleries and all other expensive fads.

MICHIGAN STARTS FOOTBALL WORK

AN ARBOR, Mich., April 4.—Spring football training at the University of Michigan will start on April 14, the first day of school after the Easter recess, when Coach Yost will arrive in Ann Arbor to direct the activities of the candidates. Captain Jimmie Raynsford issued the call for the eridren candidates to Yost. The spring training work this year will continue for three weeks. Confronted with the necessity of developing an almost entirely new line before the Harvard game scheduled for early in the fall Yost has made known his determination to insist upon unusually severe drilling this year.

MANDOT M'CUE BOUT POSTPONED

OUT DOOR SPORTS ON AT VARSITY

Baseball and Track Men Report for First Practice of the Season
at Madison

MADISON, Wis., April 4.—Despite the high wind and raw threatening weather yesterday Coach Lewis led his squad of varsity baseball candidates out on the lower campus in the afternoon for the first outdoor practice of the season. The ground was still muddy and slippery, but the chill wind kept the men on the jump. The practice kept right on through the little shower that came down for a few minutes. The squad hopes to move out to Camp Randall today.

The men did not show to the best of their ability owing to the weather conditions, but the coach appeared satisfied. The infielders gobbled up speedy grounders in good style, and the fielders were given their first opportunity to show what they could do in handling long drives. Later on the men took a whirl with the stick, getting in a good batting practice. Forty-five candidates reported to Coach Juneau for freshman varsity ball. They had their second work out yesterday in the annex under "Slim" Lewis owing to the absence of Juneau who was called out of the city for a few days. The yearlings have a lot of likely material, including a number of southpaws. They practice an hour each day before and after dinner. While Coach Lewis put his men through the traces on the lower campus, Coach Jones gave his track men a stiff workout.

Outdoor track practice was held yesterday for the first time this year when after donning their suits the varsity squad of distance men ran from the gymnasium over to Camp Randall, and trained on the track there. This initial outdoor workout was in preparation for the relay races to be held at the Drake university on April 13. Although there is still some uncertainty about what relay team Wisconsin will send to the Drake games, Coach Jones is making all preparations to bring the Badgers out on top.

BEN ALLEN RETAINS POOL CHAMPIONSHIP

KANSAS CITY Mo., April 4.—Bennie Allen successfully defended his title as world's champion pocket billiard player last night by defeating Edward Ralph of New Jersey, the challenger, in the final match, 200 to 79. The title holder started the final game with a lead of 133 balls, which he obtained in the first two contests, and by winning the final game he finished 254 points ahead of his opponent. The total score for the three games was 699 to 246.

Possibility of a track meet that will eclipse the interstate track meet in its palmy days are found in the plans now developing at the normal school for an invitation high school meet. The tentative date of Decoration day has been set for the event, an ideal day this year, as it comes on Saturday. The local high school has already made up its mind to enter, and responses from the smaller schools in this territory are expected shortly. The normal's new field in the fair grounds furnishes a location for the meet that eclipses the facilities offered by many colleges of the country, and the various patriotic and amusement features planned as adjuncts will materially aid the attractiveness of the event.

DAUSS IS A COMER SAYS TIGER LEADER

Hughie Jennings Predicts
that the Former Minny League Pitcher Will Make Good Record

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 4.—If Ralph Comstock is successful with Detroit in 1914 he will owe much to George Dauss, the Indianapolis boy, secured from the St. Paul team of the American association. It was George who first noticed that Comstock failed to cover his splitter when working. In a game last fall when Comstock was working against St. Louis, Dauss says that every time a spitball delivery was called for, Comstock let his glove fall slightly while he moistened the ball. He watched his teammate for a while, made a mental note of each delivery and finally confided in Manager Jennings. Jennings watched, saw what Dauss had discovered and in the latter innings told Comstock of his fault.

The season was far spent, however, and Comstock did not make serious attempt to eliminate the fault. This spring, however, he has been working hard to overcome it and he is now in San Antonio, Texas, with Oscar Stanage, making a determined effort to right himself.

Jennings says he expects Dauss to make an even better record this year than last.

"The one year's experience with the Tigers will do George a lot of good," declares Hughie. "He is a wise young fellow and takes advantage of every weakness in the batting armor of an opposing player. I consider Dauss to be by far the best young pitcher in the American league and I am not alone in this belief. Clark Griffith of the Nationals was one of the first of opposing managers to recognize in Dauss a coming star."

Post Mortems (BY HAL SHERIDAN.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—Preparations to resist the first serious English invasion in the sport field this year are well under way today, and the movement toward Lakewood, N. Active practice in preparation for the international games will start next week.

POEMS

You Ought To Know

FOR ALL THESE
(By Juliet Wilbur Tompkins.)
I thank thee, Lord, that I am straight and strong.

With wit to work, and hope to keep me brave;
That two score years, unfathomed, still belong
To the allotted life thy bounty gave.

I thank thee that the sight of sunlit lands
And dipping hills, the breath of evening grass—
That wet dark rocks and flowers in my hands
Can give me daily gladness as I pass.

I thank thee that I love the things of earth—
Ripe fruits and laughter lying down to sleep,
The shine of lighted towns, the grave or worth
Of beating human hearts that laugh and weep.

I thank thee that as yet I need not know,
Yet need not fear, the mystery of the end;
But more than all, and though all these should go—
Dear Lord, this on my knees!—I thank thee for my friend.

I thank thee that as yet I need not know,
Yet need not fear, the mystery of the end;
But more than all, and though all these should go—
Dear Lord, this on my knees!—I thank thee for my friend.

SUFFRAGETTE POINTERS
The last suggestion being admittedly impractical, the fact remains that women must remain in the labor ranks, and in the positions for which they are best fitted. Conditions have placed them there and those conditions cannot, like the trusts, be unscrambled, and the workers sent back to do the work in their homes as of old.

Women will make mistakes—it is the only way to learn—the men do the same. Women are great and good and grand; they are also fair and funny and foolish, and they dress sometimes in a way that must make the angels weep. Mere silly fashions can be passed over—perhaps the many changes may make work for people who might otherwise be unemployed. But when girls go about in freezing winter weather with bare necks and chests, and with their furs on their shoulders, their own health is endangered, and that of future generations as well. Sensible men and women should rise in their might and put a stop to such work. This is eugenics instead of suffrage, but it is part of the woman question. Many of the old objections to the movement are sinking into innocuous desuetude as people become better informed in the matter. The old one that it will make trouble in the home still survives. Who will make trouble? If the man, is it any credit to him to abuse his wife if she should conscientiously differ from him, as to who would make the best mayor or alderman? Why should not each go and vote according to the dictates of his or her own conscience? Whence comes the feeling that a man is willing his father, sons or brothers may differ in their politics from him, but a wife must not? Is it the feeling that has come down through the ages, that a wife is a possession, and must obey her lawful ruler?

When the federal constitution was written the question of women suffrage had not risen, and so the signers were not called upon to class their mothers, wives and daughters with lunatics, negroes and Indians. That performance was left to the men, who later wrote the state constitutions, and who were careful to insert the word male, as a prime requisite for the ballot; it is that little word the suffragists are trying to erase.

Should woman go into politics? Just what is meant by politics? Probably it means here, shall they sit in the councils of the nation? Have those places become the councils of the ungodly, and the seats of the scornful, and therefore unfit for women? Would it not be as well for the moral, financial and political interests of Chicago if such women as Jane Addams, Marion Drake and Mrs. McDowell were put in the places of Hinky Dink and Bathhouse John, who are sending out their orders to their henchmen from their saloons?

"For the first time in history, the United States senators gave a majority vote last week in favor of the nationwide equal suffrage amendment. It stood 35 to 34. Only because a two thirds vote is necessary was the resolution defeated.

"In quite early life I formed the opinion that women ought to vote, because it is right, and for the best interests of the country. Years of observation and thought have strengthened this opinion."—Bishop Bowman.

Tents in India.
The manufacture of tents is numbered among the leading industries of India. The large demand for them is attributed to "the more or less transient character of a large part of the population and to the fact that the art of manufacturing tents has been brought to such perfection that they serve the purpose better than the average house of the poorer classes."

One of Them
A certain millionaire did not approve of foreign missions. One Sunday at church, when the collection was being taken up for these missions, the collector approached and held out the collection box. The millionaire shook his head.
"I never give to missions," he whispered.
"Then take something out of the bag, sir," whispered the collector.
"The money is for the heathen."

When the Son Set
There was a little boy who began to keep a diary. His first entry was: "Got up this morning at 7 o'clock." He showed the entry to his mother, and she, horror stricken, said:
"Have you been to school? Got up, indeed! Such an expression! Does the sun get up! No, it rises."
And she scratched out "Got up at 7" and wrote, "Rose at 7" in its place. That night the boy, before retiring, ended the entry for the day with the sentence: "Set at 9 o'clock."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Musical Interpretation
An Irishman who had come to New York was met at Ellis Island by his brother Mike. The latter undertook to show Pat the sights of the big city, pointing out the city hall, Trinity church, and the tall buildings. At length they came to Chinatown.
Pointing to a Chinese laundry, Mike exclaimed:
"Look at that sign, Pat! Sure, an' ye never saw the like o' that in Ireland! Can you read it?"
"No," replied Pat; "but, begorra, if I had me flute here I could play it."

CHURCH NEWS

Prepate to Welcome Queen of Bulgaria

Episcopal church bishops and other leaders have already taken steps to welcome, in company with Bulgarian committees, the Queen of Bulgaria upon the occasion of her approaching visit. Apart from the common courtesy to a Queen resting upon all, Episcopalians accept special responsibility because of new relations between Anglicans and the Church of Bulgaria growing out of church unity efforts. Bulgarians in America have a few parishes only, with about 20,000 members. Bulgarians have repeatedly reached out toward the Episcopal church here for fraternal courtesies, and now that communion announces its purpose to join the local Bulgarians in a welcome to their Queen.

The Church of Bulgaria, to which the Queen belongs, is Eastern Orthodox Catholic. It not only does not get on with the Roman Catholic church, being often charged by the latter with persecuting Roman Catholic residents in Bulgaria, but it is not in communion with other Orthodox churches of the Balkans and the Near East. Formerly it belonged in the Patriarchate of Constantinople, but forty-five years ago it drew out, and stood alone until just before the commencement of the last Balkan war. As part of the agreement of the Balkan States to fight Turkey it came again into union with other Orthodox churches. However, the strain of that war broke over, and it did political unity, and the Queen's communion again stands alone.

through American importing houses. All over this country Easter lilies are sold at twenty-five cents per blossom. It is a standard price. Florists buy them from raisers at ten to twelve cents per blossom. This year the price florists must pay is up, and so it is said to be likely that church committees will be urged by florists, when buying Easter decorations, to take other varieties and limit the lily to a few. More and more committees are using many varieties, and they never used more than they will do this Easter. All colors are thrown in as a rule. A few years ago considerable sums were spent on Easter flowers by wealthy New York, Chicago, Boston and Pittsburgh churches. The tendency now is to allow committees themselves to select and pay for decorations, taking no money out of the parish funds. Amounts expended are less than formerly. Money is kept for missions and the poor, a few lilies are made to answer by giving them a prominent position, and many potted plants are loaned by parishioners. Some churches even make a few flowers go a long way by proper sensible arrangement. Such is the plan this Easter more than ever before.

NEW MAIN ACROSS CAUSEWAY BREAKS

Deep Trench Torn in Street by Bursting of Pipe Under Pressure This Morning

The north side was without water or fire protection for three hours last night as the result of a break in the new water main at the north end of the causeway. The pipe burst shortly after 6 o'clock. Fortunately for the north side, the old main was put into service about 9 o'clock after the water had been shut off from the disabled main.

A gully twenty feet long, eight feet wide and six feet deep was torn in the street by the tremendous pressure, the overflow going into the marsh.

The repair of the main will be completed today, the board of public works said today.

WEDDING FEATURES FAIR AT ONALASKA

"Red hats," minstrels and wild men were the centers of attraction at the "county fair" held last night at the La Crosse county agricultural school at Onalaska. Two hundred and fifty people came out to see the wild men and the equally wild women. Two special performances of the minstrel show were given to the loud applause of the audience. John Hellickson of Eldrick, Wis., and Miss Marie Berg of Blair, Wis., were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, the wedding being one of the chief events of the fair. The proceeds of the "fair" are to go to the Athletic association of the school and to the publication of the school yearbook, the "Agric."

BANK STATEMENT

NEW YORK, April 4.—The weekly actual bank statement, issued today, showed the following changes: Surplus decreased $11,884,450. Loans increased $23,782,000. Specie increased $744,000. Legals decreased $7,068,000. Net deposits increased $29,467,000. Circulation decreased $9,000. Surplus reserve $10,154,460.

(Copyright, 1914, by New York Evening Post.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—Today's stock market fell into such complete inactivity—total trading was much the smallest of any Saturday during the past year—that the movement of prices may fairly be called negligible. Trifling fractional changes, irregularly distributed, made up the only changes of the day.

Abroad, British consols declined 1/4 and French 3 per cents rose 1/2, but the foreign stock markets in general remained inactive. With all the adverse criticism bestowed on the banking districts and the regional banks, the conviction has grown that the character and capacity of the members of the national board will have more to do with the success of the new regime than the fixing of topographical boundaries.

But meantime, the public reception of list of designated banking centers proves beyond dispute one fact—that the fixing of so large a number of separate districts and regional reserve banks was a mistake in more ways than one. Competent and impartial students of the problem were in again from the start, that to divide the country in more than six such districts would be an economic blunder. It now begins to appear that allotment of a lodge number also insured political embarrassment.

MEXICO CITY UNEASY WITH DREAD

Value of Money Declines with Rapidity and All Make Preparations to Flee

VILLA PURSUES FEDERAL BAND

Corners Velasco and Aims to Exterminate Last Remnant of Defenders of Torreon

MEXICO CITY, April 4.—A grim old Indian, stoically game to the very end, Victoriano Huerta, with gritted teeth, unflinchingly faced his fate today, as he stoutly denied that Torreon had fallen or that his army had met with losses.

"Torreon has not fallen. It is a lie," he said to all to whom he talked.

Cut Off News. It is obvious that Huerta has determined to keep the news of the defeat away from the people of the city as long as possible. He has completely cut off all lines of communication with the north.

It is doubtful if the world has ever witnessed just such a scene as is presented here today. There is a suppressed, uncertain fear of what is to come. Despite the secrecy of the government officials, the news from Torreon has filtered in from the United States in dispatches.

Men who know Huerta believe that he will die fighting. Many fear he will destroy the city if he is convinced that Villa will wrest it from him. The ruling opinion, however, is that Huerta will barricade himself and hold out to the bitter end.

Money Loses Value Everywhere prices are soaring. The value of a Mexican peso is falling rapidly. Soldiers and citizens alike are trying to change their money into gold. For it is only gold that will aid flight when the crash comes.

Congress was in secret session all night, endeavoring to devise some means of meeting the financial panic as well as the threatened collapse of the government. Huerta has been in close touch with the leaders. Even with the fall of Torreon, they have weeks an d perhaps even longer, they believe, before Villa can approach the capital.

In the meantime the grim old warrior, firm and fearless at the head of the tottering government, calmly takes his cognac and smiles.

Goes After Velasco CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, April 4.—General Francisco Villa has left Torreon at the head of a large body of troops for San Pedro de las Colonias, to join General Rosalio Hernandez in an attack on the forces of General Refugio Velasco, entrenched in the hills, according to a message received today at the cuartel general. Velasco is completely surrounded, says the dispatch, and Hernandez reported that he could capture him, but Villa evidently wants to make the capture a certainty.

There has been nothing in the dispatches received here to indicate the number of men in Velasco's party. It is reported that it numbers between 3,000 and 4,000 and judging from the force sent out by Villa against it this is probably true.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 4.—The stock market opened dull with prices a fraction under Friday's close. The market was uninteresting and little aggressive support was shown.

11 a. m.—By the end of the first hour very little had been done, the market apparently being in a sold out condition. It appeared that if large interests take it in hand it will be an easy matter for them to produce a sharp advance.

The market closed dull and steady.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, April 4.—Wheat traders were perplexed today by the attitude of the Liverpool market, where prices held firm, despite generally bearish news. The local market started on a decline, but rallied and closed at opening prices. With weather and crop conditions very favorable in America, Liverpool showed firmness on expectation of lighter world's shipments.

Corn started easier but buying of May corn at 68 cents brought a rally and the close this noon found the prices only a fraction under last night's closing figures.

Oats were a shade easier at the start but on the rally in the other grains recovered the early losses. Provisions continued yesterday's decline in the early trading today but firmed toward the close.

If you have ever lived in the sunny southland, you know "Old Black Joe" in person. If you have not, then you know him as portrayed in those matchless pages of fiction, "Marse Chan," and "Meh Lady." You know him, too, in "Uncle Tom's Cabin"—and a hundred other stories of the Old South—a period of romance—of chivalry—of the brave young days when life was lived only for love and one's country. Before the dark, lowering clouds of war had obscured the bright skies of a nation's existence—and filled the hearts of its people with gloom and sorrow.

In the days gone by—and in the days that came to pass thereafter—aye and now—"Old Black Joe" lived and lives in the song and story of this country—and in the hearts of his people—white and black! Foster wrote the song and made the music—both from one mold—that have made "Old Black Joe" immortal—so long as the starry flag shall float over our common country.

This is one of the songs—in Heart Songs—that is a pearl without price. Its real value cannot be reckoned in mere money.

An Unsettled Mind.

Sir Robert Ball, the famous astronomer, was rather fond of telling the story of a correspondent who wrote to him saying that, although he was a grocer's clerk, his great ambition was to become an astronomer. But he got his ideas somewhat mixed, for this was one of his sentences: "My mind finds no rest for the sole of her foot save on one of the heavenly bodies."

GET RESPITE FOR BARNEY BERTSCHE

Man Sentenced for Swindling West Salem Widow Out of Jail on Super-sedeas Writ

CHICAGO, April 4.—Barney Bertsche, ex-convict and a political power under the old Busse regime, escaped a trip to the Joliet penitentiary today by a writ of super-sedeas from the state supreme court. All arrangements had been completed to take Bertsche to Joliet, following his conviction on the charge of swindling Mrs. Hope McEldowney of West Salem, Wis., out of $15,500 through a clairvoyant scheme. His attorneys hurried to the criminal court building today with the writ and obtained a stay of execution, pending review of the case by the higher court.

OPPOSES VETO OF SEPARATE ITEMS

Dr. Charles McCarthy Does Not Concur with Governor McGovern as to This

HE OPPOSES THE "BUDGET BILL"

Budget as Outlined with Appropriations by Separate Bills Solution of Reference Expert

Opposing Gov. McGovern's suggestion that the executive be empowered to veto one or more of the separate items making up a single appropriation bill, Dr. Charles McCarthy, of the state reference bureau, proposes for the handling of state finance.

(1) A suggestive budget, to guide the legislature.

(2) Beginning early in the session, the passage of the appropriations as SEPARATE bills, WITHOUT RIDERS.

(3) The signing, or veto, of these bills, considered separately by the governor, with the tentative budget at his elbow for his guidance.

MADISON, Wis., April 4.—"The greatest joker now existing in America is the executive veto of items in an appropriation bill," declared Dr. Charles McCarthy today. Gov. McGovern advocated this plan in a message to the legislature and has now submitted the proposition to the town meetings for a vote at the April town elections. Dr. McCarthy declares that the idea goes hand in hand with corporation rule and that it means that every piece of progressive legislation may be fought over at every session of the legislature. He favors separate appropriation bills and is opposed to the big budget appropriation plan.

"It is curious that the people of this state have not given sufficient attention to the budget," says Dr. McCarthy, head of the legislative reference library. "For years and years leaders of the legislature have asked for the budget bill in spite of all evidence that the budget bill was not and could not be applied to American conditions."

"The whole history of the pork-barrel-rider-covered legislation in America should show this was so. A budget is a necessary thing in government. Liberty must rise or fall with the control of the purse. The big budget bill—bill mind you—is another matter. I am on record time and time again against the budget bill."

Book Deals With It

Dr. McCarthy points to the fact that he opposed this budget bill idea in his book on the "Wisconsin Idea."

"The budget bill is considered unwise," continues Dr. McCarthy, "because it contains so much that is a fruitful source of logrolling and in nearly all states has to be supplemented by another and more dangerous machinery, such as the power of the governor to veto items in order to do away with riders, the deficiency bill to make up for inevitable mistakes and discrepancies and other similar advices. So much is involved in a budget bill that the members cannot consider the items separately as they should and are inclined to either cut it arbitrarily or accept it as a whole. In Wisconsin each bill must be considered on its merits."

The budget bill belongs to a monarchical government not one like ours, declares Dr. McCarthy. That idea stands as a monument to the stupidity of political economists who have recommended it.

Promotes Log-rolling

"The inefficiency, corruption and logrolling which have come in many states from this entirely false idea have been excluded from this state in spite of constant pressure to introduce it," says Dr. McCarthy. "Such a plan means minority control of all institutions and departments; it means that every institution or department dies every two years, for unless the appropriation is forthcoming the institution or department must go out of existence; it means that twenty members of a senate—if twenty is a quorum—may say to the entire legislature, 'It takes an affirmative action to pass this money and we can block it. If the institution or department wants this money it will have to accept our terms.'"

"That is, the minority dictates the terms. This little joker has not been realized by our wise economists and accountants, who have been called upon to help legislatures to better their financial procedure, but it has destroyed the spirit of institutions, it has debauched commissions and departments and resulted in stagnation in many states."

Not to Veto Items

"It is not the constitutional right to veto items that we want. That would be a worse remedy than what we have. We have fortunately everything that is necessary without constitutional amendment. The legislature ought to pass on each bill separately and begin early in the session. The governor with the budget at his elbow and the single bills coming up to him without riders, ought to have complete control over the finances and assume complete responsibility. Wisconsin has been far in advance of other states in these matters. I defy any man to show me a state which has tried to use the budget bill system, so long advocated by Senator Whitehead and others, but which has in

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLDS? TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely; Dull Headache Goes; Nasty Catarrhal Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; fullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

High School Haps

The librarian of the High school in her last report announced that during the five months which the library has been under her supervision, 10,000 pupils have used the library for the purpose of getting help, statistics or for reference work. Over 1,100 books have been loaned to pupils and the periodicals have been in constant use. Since the library came into the care of Miss Sherwood, the books have been put in order and catalogued.

The high school baseball team will play the Onalaska Agricultural school team on Saturday morning, May 16. The team was to have made a trip and played Ripon college during vacation but due to some misunderstanding the game has been called off.

About five hundred names and addresses of former residents of this city were secured by the Home Coming celebration committee at the high school. Notices were sent around to the various session rooms and pupils who knew of anyone who had resided in this city were asked to turn in the names to the office with the above result.

Mr. C. R. Rounds, state inspector of English in the Normal schools, visited the high school Thursday and addressed the teachers of the English department. Methods of teaching were discussed.

Miss Brookings, head of the English department at the University high school of Madison, paid a visit to the local school today and visited a number of the English classes.

Miss Eura Sanders, who is now teaching Latin in the Tomah High school, spent Thursday afternoon at the high school here visiting the classes and teachers of our school. Miss Sanders is the daughter of Professor Sanders of the Normal school.

Principal McCormick of the High

CHILDREN WHO ARE SICKLY

Mothers who value their own comfort and the welfare of their children, should never be without a box of Mother's Own Sweet Powders for Children, for use throughout the season. They break up Colds, Relieve Feverishness, Constipation, Teething Disorders, Headache and Stomach Troubles. Used by Mothers for 24 years. THESE POWDERS NEVER FAIL. Sold by all Drug Stores, 25c. Don't accept any substitutes. Sample mailed FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

school will spend his week of vacation in visiting some of the other high schools in the state. He already has made arrangements to visit the Madison and Milwaukee schools. On Saturday, April 18, he will speak on the topic of "School Government," at the meeting of the Monroe County Teachers which is to be held at Sparta on that date.

A letter from the Normal school was received yesterday afternoon by Mr. McCormick inviting the local high school to take part in the track and field meet which they intend to hold during the coming season. The high school will accept the invitation and intend to send a strong team into the meet.

Ben Ott is home spending his Easter vacation. He has been attending the University of Illinois.

Joe Colman has returned from Andover to spend the Easter vacation. A notice was received from Congressman J. J. Esch that a competitive examination will be held for an appointment to Annapolis April 21, in this city and in Madison. The reason for appointing a man now is that the district representative now at Annapolis has resigned on account of deafness.

YOU NEED MEDICINE AT THIS TIME

Everybody is more or less troubled at this season with loss of vitality, failure of appetite, that tired feeling, or with bilious turns, dull headaches, indigestion and other stomach troubles, or with pimples and other eruptions on the face and body. The reason is that the blood is impure and impoverished. Hood's Sarsaparilla relieves all these ailments. Ask your druggist for this medicine and get it today. Nothing else acts like it. Get Hood's.
